

Premium Handover Service

Taking delivery of your new yacht is an exciting event. Why not make an investment in your ability to understand it and how to use it?

Sundance Marine are pleased to be the only brokerage to offer this specialized service. Well known and experienced yachtsman Gary Simmons leads our team in ensuring that your transition into 'skipper' is as smooth as possible. You will take on a greater understanding of your yacht, and your family and crew will be more comfortable for the experience.

This service can be customized to suit the individual needs of each owner and their yacht. As a guide, Gary recommends the following:
